

Hercules' Song

Hard Ten Labors

(to the tune of the Beatles' "Hard Days' Night.")

It's been a hard ten labors. I had to fight, a three-head dog.
Its been a hard ten labors. I even killed the Centaur's hog.
But when I get home to you, there's more things I must do, before I'll be alright.

Bitch and moan, all of the day and the night.
Bitch and moan. Nothing I do is quite right. Yeah.

It's been a hard ten labors. I killed a lion just for you.
Its been a long ten labors. I cleaned the stables. Oh, P. U.
Now you tell me its best, to don a wig and a dress.
And then I'll feel alright.